Alleghany Springs.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] ALLEGHANY SPRINGS, VA., July 28, 1874. In Montgomery county, Virginia, four miles from A leghany Depot, a station on the Virginia and Tennessee Raffroad, in the named Wilton, sixty-four years of age, from midst of the Allegbany mountains, where the lovely Roanoke "winds like a blue vein on children, appeared at the Central market sleeping beauty's breast," we find this haven recently and took a stool at one of the eating of rest, with its health-giving fountains. stands. The beauties of the Alleghany will ever make it a place for lovers of piersure, and the reputation of its waters will-ever make it a place of success. The waters are not gaseous, but saline, and are recommended for dyspepsia and all diseases arising therefrom. It is also a most excellent tonic. In order to have faith in its medicinal qualities one has only to witness the many cures wrought by its use.

The accommodations of this place are first-The accommodations of this place are first-class in every particular. Major Wilson, the present manager, is a most excellent laudlord. Polite, temperate, chaste, faithful, and vigilant, he is the man for the place he so beautifully fills. The fare here is good; done up in the O.d Vicgioia style—fried chicken and in the O.d Vicgioia style—fried chicken and transfer and stations on the Southside road, Lynchburg, and the West. in the O.d Virginia style-fried chicken and roast beef with gravy. The company is select; no shoodyism, no "self-satisfied strutting of wealthy gentlemen with their brains in their pockets," but intelligence, retinement, and wealth all combined.

There are many bright-eyed damsels here, each resplendent with beauty, whose modesty, "like a veil drawn over the bosom of virgin beauty, heightens the charms it half conceals." We long again to see from your grand old city those we met here last season. We admired many of their lovely faces and tender hearts, and were proud of them and of Richmond. God bless the dear old city. I loved it in my boyhood, and in manhood I revere it with the tenderest and fondest recollec-

Among the number here I find from your city Rev. Dr. Read and lady, P. Leightfoot Wormley and lady, Mrs. Dr. Robertson, Mrs. Blair, Mis. A. J. Hopkins, Mrs. C. R. Jones, J. T. Ellyson, John Ragland, and Julius

Owing to the financial condition of the country the company here is not so large as usual at this season, and yet, from all I can learn, it exceeds that of any other resort in the State. Despite the continued rains, which are so well calculated to cast a gloom over the place, mirth and happiness beam on every face, and there seems to be a sort of quiet determination to drive all care away and to hold no part with so disagreeable a guest as ennui. At night the ball-room is the great centre of attraction, where we have a brilliant display of beauty and wit to dazzle our eyes and vanquish our hearts, and here we acknowledge our weakness and rejoice in being weak.

The grand dress ball came off here on the 24th instant and was a grand affair. Many and Southwest.

THROUGH MAIL-leave Richmond at 1:38 P. M.; persons were in attendance. The spacious ball-room was brilliantly illuminated and tastefully ornamented. Each one vied with the other to make this occasion one of pleasure; mirth, music, and joy reigned supreme, and nothing transpired to mar the pleasures of the evening. The supper was unexceptionally good and tastefully arranged. It is now late and "the fire-fly is sparkling on the dusky robe of night," and all is calm, silent, and magnificent.

Life at Rawley Springs.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] RAWLEY SPRINGS, July 29, 1874.

The ingress of visitors to this place continues to pour in, so that soon the hotel will be crowded to its utmost capacity. The enterprising proprietors, however, do not mean to be found unequal to the situation, and are already planning enlarged accommodations for another season. In spite of the crowd, none have been made uncomfortable save the unfortunate new-comers, who have to wait awhile before becoming enseonced in comfortable quarters. Fortunately for the expectations of these, there is an ebbing as well as flowing tide, although most of the visitors to Rawley are in earnest pursuit of health, and tarry usually for a month at

Sunday three services were keld in the spacious ball-room, and at night a congregation of about tive hundred listened to a discourse, full of originality and force, from Rev. Mr. Henson, now of Philadelphia, formerly of Fluvanna, a protegé of General Cocke's, and a successful student of the University of Virginia. It is proposed to invite that gentleman to deliver one of his popular lectures for the purpose of erecting a chapel at this place. The mountain air tiere seems to have a tine effect upon the spirits. All is life and animation, and everybody dook cheerful. Many were made insensible to the discomfort of rainy weather to-day by the charms of most recheroke music-instrumental and vocal-of which there was a continual stream. The most prominent performers were Mrs. F-n, of Baltimore; the Misses D-p, of Richmond; Mrs. and Miss C-e, of Washington. The gayer part of the con-pany adjourned at 11 A. M. to the ball-room to dance the "German," which was pronounced a success. A few evening since the ladies exhibited a series of beautiful tableaux, and last night some wags responded by inviting the company to a burlesque of the same. After a great ado of preparation the crowded audience was tovited to look at scene No. 1-The Bear"-and the curtain rose upon a bare scene indeed, with only the word "Sold" staring them in the face. The joke was taken good-naturedly, a hearty laugh ensued, and quick as thought the seats were moved back to their places, and the ordinary music and cancing went on. In sooth, we are merry folks at Rawley, and why should we not be, with fine fare, good quarters, agreeable company, and draughts of that unequalled chalybeate water, which exerts so surprising an effect upon health and spirits that few are proof against its magic. The guests number 700. and arrivals occur daily.

From Old Sweet Springs.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] OLD SWEET SPRINGS, July 28, 1874. Having been sojourning for the past week Having been sojourning for the past week at this old and highly renowned watering place and enjoying my "olium cum dig" in viewing the fertile valleys and verdure-clad mountains of old Monroe, I thought you would like to know what changes have taken place in the personnel of the resort. First and foremost, the uffable and efficient Miller, formerly of the Carrolton, of Baltimore, whose portly form bears testimony that he knows the art of catering to the inner man, is in place of the former superintendent, and Parker, of Richmond, is locator, while a strange face appears in almost every position in the office; but I bear willing testimony to their efficiency and politeness, the more marked on account of the entire absence of the usual hotel-clerk indifference and impudence.

BUFFALO SPRINGS, MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.—RECENT DISCOVERY OF AN ADBITIONAL SPRING, decidedly impregnated with the celebrated "Salts of Lithia." These Springs open for the reception of visitors on the FIRSE OF JUNE. 1874.

In most of the chronic forms of disease regarded as remedial by mineral waters these Springs enjoy a deservedty high reputation.

as remedial by mineral waters these Springs enjoy a deserved yhigh reputation.

In general adaptation and curative power in diseases of women, in dyspepsia in its protean forms, in chronic intermittent fevers, and in all diseases generated by malarial poisons, they are without a rival among the medicinal waters of America. The proprietor is aware that this is a very strong claim. The public will juoge if it besustained by the testimonials submitted.

Since the last Spring season several valuable springs have been discovered at this place. One of them, according to an analysis made by Professor Tonry, of Bartimore, is decidedly impregnated with the "Saits of Lithia," which has given such celebrity to the Getrysburg spring in our own country and to the Aix is Chappelle and Vichy waters of the continent of Europe, and which is so highly esteemed in the medical world as a remedy in your, rheumatism, and in kidney and bladder affections.

Professor George B. Wood of the University of Pennsylvania, says: "There is perhaps no other remedy from which equal efficacy may be expected in the removal of the deposits of the urate of soda in the joints and ligamentous tissues in gouty patients, and in preventing the deposits in the kind pays and urinary passages." tients, and in preventing the deposits in the accessive and urinary passages."

It may be worthy of note that this is the only Spring in Virginia in which this sait is found otherwise than the merest trace.
